Plein Air Painting Workshops

Supply List: Oil Landscape (Multi-Day)

Paint & Medium

- Paint: I use a limited palette of six colors plus white:

Cadmium Yellow Light	Ultramarine Blue
Cadmium Yellow Deep	Phthalo Green
Cadmium Red Light	White (Titanium-Zinc)
Alizarin Crimson	Chromatic Black

Colors differ from brand to brand, but I use Gamblin oils. I recommend professional and NOT student grade oils. If you don't have exactly the paints above, choose a warm and cool pair of each of the three primaries. You may also use any white you'd like, but Titanium or a mixed white (titanium-zinc) dries faster. I sometimes use Chromatic Black, which is good for dulling color in the landscape.

- Medium: I do not use any medium other than Turpenoid (odorless mineral spirits) for thinning. If you are used to using a medium, then by all means use it for this workshop. If you want your paintings to dry quickly, I recommend an alkyd medium such as Gamblin's Galkyd.
- Thinner: I use Gamblin Gamsol or Turpenoid. If you use Turpenoid, make sure it is the blue can (Turpenoid regular) and NOT the green can (Turpenoid Natural.)

Surface

- Panels. I use Ampersand Gessobord or my own panels. (I don't use stretched canvas outdoors.) If you make your own, look into Judson's Plein Air Outfitters (www.pochade.com) for materials. My method works best on a smooth, semi-absorbent surface. Bring a convenient size for outdoor work. I paint anywhere from 5x7 to 12x16 outside. I recommend 9x12 or smaller, which will allow you to finish a painting in one session. Plan on 2 panels a day for full-day workshops; 1 panel a day for half-day workshops.

Brushes

- Hog bristle flats - #2, #4, #6, #8, #10 (I use the "Grand Prix" line from Silver Brush.)

Equipment

- Outdoor easel. I use both the 6x8 Guerrilla Painter ThumBox and the 9x12 Guerrilla Painter Box. An old standby is the trusty French Easel. Whatever you use, it should be portable and lightweight and above all stable. (Flying and don't want to pack the easel? If you are attending the Friar's Bay Studio Gallery workshop, we may have a French easel for you to rent. You will need to rent the easel in advance as we have very few. Rental is $25/week. This does not apply to workshops not at Friar's Bay Studio Gallery.)
- Umbrella - not necessary, but helpful in intense sunlight.
- Stool - again, not necessary, but good for comfort. If you must sit to paint, I strongly suggest a camp stool or collapsible chair, since not all locations have picnic tables.

Miscellaneous (besides the usual oil painting items):

- Small Sketchbook and pencil for making quick thumbnail sketches.
- Viewfinder, gray scale and pocket color wheel. (All available from www.pochade.com.)
- Wet panel carrier.
- Hat, sunblock and water bottle for working outdoors (and maybe bug dope!)
- "Baby Wipes" for cleaning fingers. Most locations will not have running water.
- Appropriate clothing and footwear. Some locations may be cool, and sandals may be an inconvenience if footing isn't the best.
- Photos to work from. In the event of inclement weather -- rain, excessive wind, snow, etc. -- we will work in the studio from photos.
- Lunch. Bring a bag lunch, because if we're out in the field, we may not have dining facilities or a deli nearby.

Keep in mind that this is mostly a plein air workshop! What this means is:

- Everything should be portable. You should be able to carry everything in ONE trip.
- Think ahead to what you might need in the field, such as drinking water, snacks, baby wipes for your hands, sun hat, sunblock, etc. But remember -- you still have to carry whatever you bring in ONE trip. (Most likely, we'll be walking very little distance from the car, but you never know!)
- Restrooms may not be immediately available. The nature of plein air requires a certain amount of flexibility on the part of both instructor and student, and although we will try to find locations that have restrooms, you may have to use the facilities the Great Outdoors provides.
- Be flexible! Some locations may be better at certain times than others depending on weather and time of day. Be prepared to carpool, as some locations may not have parking for everyone.
